Note on MSS. on loan from Lord Derby

Letter books in the XIIIth Earl of Derby's handwriting, and some of the original letters from Latham, Montagu, Gould and other ornithologists of the day. The material relates in the main to specimens in our collection which were originally in the XIIIth Earl's possession and on his death in 1851 were passed over to the City of Liverpool. These papers throw new light on problems connected with our specimens, and are also of great historical importance to Natural History matters generally. We have already in our possession similar papers which came with the collection in 1851 and to which these letters on loan are a counterpart. It would be a fine thing if this latter material could be acquired by the Museums. At present the letters etc., are only on loan from the present Lord Derby but he has given the Keeper full permission to publish any of them at his discretion.

Liverpool ARCHIVES DEPT

Letter books of Lord Stanley/Derby 13th earl, in which are copies of letters from correspondents and a few from him to his correspondents, in 8 letterbooks. The collection is classified under MM/8/K followed by the number of the pages in the Letterbooks, 1-8.

These are listed below under Correspondent, Letterbook Number (1-8) followed by the pages, date of letter, and address of correspondent. Abstract.

A photocopy of the abstracted list of has been made, CJ has a copy of this (not complete?) and has put the letters in chronological order on the accompanying sheets. These will form a framework for more detailed abstracting prior to Indexing these letters.

Missing: Gilbert, Prince, Gould letters

If Clem would like these indexing, CJ needs to see the text of the letters (all now photocopied). The person who did the abstracts avoided the names of the species - which is what we need in order to ascertain what was at Knowsley.

Middleton Rectory,

20th August 1842.

My Lord,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's letter of 15th instant and at the same time to apologise for not having been able to reply having been obliged to come here immediately after the close of the sale and packing up my purchases for your Lordship, which I requested Mr Stephen's to forward per railway. I return to London on Monday and on Tuesday will have the honour of addressing your Lordship on the subject of the plants with any remarks I may find necessary for their better cultivation.

There is no ORCHIDEA has ever been found in Texas so I hardly expect Mr Smith will have sent your Lordship any among the fine collection coming.

Mr Stephens, author of "Incidents of Travel in Syria, Petraea and Central America" returned in June to New York, after a journey of eight months in Yucatan, where he discovered the ruins of eleven antient cities. He had a naturalist with him as well as an artist and I am very anxious to hear from him what he found in that very interesting country. I know in the higher parts the MELEAGRIS OCELLATA has been seen and I mean to write the first mail to Honduras to tray the Yucata log-wood cutters and that they may know the bird. I send them the drawing published by Temmincks of it, which, bye-the-bye, is not so rich in plumage as the one I saw in Guatamala. I will never rest till your Lordship gets this bird into your Lordship's collection, for I feel convinced it will be found more handsome than is even yet supposed.

I have the honour to remain,

Your Lordship's most obedient servant.

Your Lordship will therefore be so good as send me up that document. On the receipt of this with an indorsement thus-

On its back, and I will have great pleasure in going to the Dock and clear them through the Customs House paying the freight and charges and sending them per railway to your Lordship's order at Liverpool. I will endeavour tomorrow to get the Dock Company to permit me to do so without the Bill of Lading, to save time on such delicate articles. But in case of their refusal, it is necessary to receive the Bill of Lading, and moreover, on their consenting, it would be on my guarantee to produce it in a post or two. Does your Lordship entertain any idea of trying for the NUBIAN ANTELOPES? I wrote your Lordship about it. Frenchman M. Reboulet is at the Railway Hotel, Southampton.

16 December 1843

My Lord,

Perhaps your Lordship will be surprised to hear from me from this quarter of the world, but so it is. I came out in the Packet of November arriving here yesterday and one of the first objects that met my eyes was a fine specimen of the MELEAGRIS OCELLATA in Mr Thompson's front yard, feeding with the fowls quite happy, intended for your Lordship. Mr Thompson not aware of the pugnacious disposition of these birds, unfortunately, after the death of two, allowed the survivors to remain together, and the present fine cock now strolling about the yard in high health but it could be especially (?) mutilated in his plumage, fairly killed in battle his companion, literally having laid bear the neck of the other to the bone. It would scarcely be credited the situation the bird remained in before he surrendered to the victor. This is very unfortunate, but Mr Thompson thought that the birds would be happier together, and the battle was not witnessed by anybody. A large vessel is in the harbour called THE DUKE OF CLARENCE and I have recommended Mr Thompson sending this bird by her, and making a bargain with the Captain for the sum equal to £8 or £10, even if he takes the bird home in good order, and nothing if otherwise as the only means for your Lordship being likely to receive it. The steamer I would not recommend as transshipping and the number of passengers always on board, who can never be prevented feeding, would run greater risk of death than a vessel direct without a good reward for a successful attention would be given. I am returning to Europe, I hope to be able to bring one with me but my departure is uncertain, I will leave this for Guatamala in a few days and offer your Lordship my services ever.

Having the honour etc.

London.
26th April 1843.

My Lord,

I received your Lordship's letter of the 23rd and was glad to find the plants and seeds had reached Knowsley in safety and such good order. I observed some curious fungusses among the seeds.

M. Reboulet sought me out the day before yesterday and told me that Thompson had offered him £70 for the three antelopes; but that his price was £100 and under that he would not part with them and was anxious as he promised my brother on board the steamer to give your Lordship the first refusal, on account of that promise he wished to know of me whether he was now at liberty to dispose of them as Mr. Wombwell had offered to take them at £100. I told him I had no authority but that Mr Thompson no doubt would give the answer as he had promised. Thompson in fact had called, but as he had not been able to give the name at the French hotel where Reboulet was staying, they missed. Fortunately, yesterday afternoon Mr Thompson found me at my hotel and extended to me your Lordship's views and that from Reboulet not understanding English they seemed to misunderstand each other. I accompanied Thompson, therefore, to the hotel and interpreted between them and I am happy in telling your Lordship that the three animals are your Lordship's now. Reboulet begged me to assure your Lordship that it is as a favour, for out of 18 antelopes which he brought with him from Nubia, only these have survived, and that he calculates on yet tempting your Lordship to buy a pair of giraffes, that as they are animals he has reared, he is much attached to them, and really reduces his price and would take less from your Lordship on account of the treatment they would receive at Knowsley in preference to selling them to travelling menageries or to exhibitions. I told him to write your Lordship all he has to say, and I would forward his letter. He seems a curious fellow, says he is rich and not within a few hundred pounds in his price. Wombell paid him £2000 for the last five giraffes he brought over. He has with him, he tells me, a case of bird skins and a case of plants, dried, from Cozoglo. I expect to get a sight of both this afternoon. I will pay him the £100 on your Lordship's account when I know that Thompson has received the animals, but will write your Lordship by this post what he has done. As your Lordship would be sending me a cheque for the disbursements of the plants which I paid last week, I told Thompson it would be no consequence my giving him the £100, so that he might receive the animals at once. Your Lordship can therefore send me the cheque for the £106.7s.8d. being the present £100.

The way your Lordship's name was mentioned to Reboulet by my brother, even from a request I made to my brother when in England in September last year and then starting for Bombay with the intention of looking again in March, that he would oblige me by looking out among some of his friends who had been up with the army in Afghanistan, for any deers or animals of that species or family and begging of them that if they were sending them to England, as often these creatures are lost from want of proper treatment, with your Lordship as a distinguished amateur deserved every encouragement, travellers, who had such opportunities of collecting such things could render, and that your Lordship would always gladly pay any expenses, that often prevented officers sending down animals of great rarity. My brother has kept this in view and on board the ship on the passage home this collector begged of him to give a refusal first of his animals to your Lordship and on his arriving off Falmouth announced their being on board, which I immediately advised your Lordship of. He has had three parties but would take the antelopes at £100 and Mr Thompson knows that my brothers are largely connected in the E. Indies, and I have still one brother in India on whom I can depend for any aid and can offer it your Lordship as I do ever my own. Reboulet has distinctly told me no. But from what my brother has hinted to me, he would take £600 for a pair of giraffes. This on board the steamer on the voyage. I fully expect this.

I have the honour etc.

My Lord,

I received your Lordship's letter by Mr Jennings in the sale room at Steven's and noticed what your Lordship says respecting M. De Lettre. I am daily expecting some gentleman from Guatamala and will be able to learn what he has been doing exactly. While on board of the Ceres, the day before yesterday I saw a most beautiful SILVER CURACOA sent by Capt. Fitzgerald of H.M.S. Rover to Mr. Charles Edwards of Pyse Nest(?) Nr Halifax, Yorkshire. Mr Edward is a very particular friend of mine and I believe well known to your Lordship for his alpaccas, and no doubt your Lordship soon hear of this bird if it is now in Europe, which I, in my ignorance perhaps now only fancy. His colour is very fine. I beg to enclose a memorandum I promised Mr Jennings for the treatment of the Orchideae, and have the honour etc.

My Lord,

I am in receipt of Your Lordship's note of the 15th inst. and I have written M. Reboulet respecting the antelope. From what I can learn from those friends who accompanied this person from Egypt, they doubt their being antelopes, more resemble they say goats.

I will send Your Lordship his reply the moment I receive it. I have succeeded this morning in getting the W. India Docks Committee Co. to pass my receipt for the five boxes plants etc. and a box of seeds and they leave by Chaplin & Horne's Wagons on the Liverpool Railway tonight, so Your Lordship will be so good as send a cart for them to Liverpool, they do not weigh much. The vessel has had frightful weather and I was sorry to see so much wet and damp but although the plants have suffered severely, yet I think they will turn out well, considering all the circumstances, the sooner however, they are unpacked, the better. I did not disturb them, more than was necessary, to admit the searcher at the Custom House passing a superficial examination. I cannot say, if Your Lordship has any new plants - but I observed in D4 a fine specimen of Epidendrum Claresii, a very rare plant and a splendid one, in great health of Odonto Glossium Pulchellum, some of fine Cycoacker's Egertoniannus and Ventricosum but no doubt Your Lordship will have many in duplicates and I should strongly recommend Your Lordship giving injunctions to Mr Jennings to cart away every bulb that has the least appearance of decay and allowing all the plants to lay in a dry, not overheated place for some 10 days till they begin to show symptoms of starting fresh bulbs. The season could not have been more favourable and I think Your Lordship will find some very valuable specimens. I shall be happy to give the names of any that may be unknown to your gardener. The seed box I observed contained a specimen very extraordinary of Oncidium Bicallosium from its long flower stem,, having seldom ever found in this country more than four or five flowers. Mrs Lawrence of Ealing Park having collectors constantly sending her plants, may I be allowed to suggest Your Lordship sending her a few of those there may be in duplicate, she mentioned to me at the Horticultural Meeting on Tuesday last that she had received a very unique specimen of a squirrel which she would be glad to give Your Lordship in return for any plants - but many similar applications no doubt Your Lordship will have. I have had a most splendid collection sent from India by the last overland mail of Orchideaceae - which I have placed in Stevens' hands for sale on account of the collector. Two of the plants, I may say, are as fine specimens of Aerides as ever were seen - supposed one of them by Dr. Lindley to be Aerides Brookesii. They are to be sold on Monday next at 38 King Street, Covent Garden.

My Lord,

I had the honour of addressing your Lordship a few days ago enclosing 3 notes of Recommendations for your collector, which I hope may be useful to him. Today a vessel called the 'Elizabeth & Jane' has arrived from Honduras and having a large collection of Orchids on board of, went down the River anxious to see in what state they might have arrived in. And am happy again to say that Captain Hart has brought all over quite safe. So often has this Captain succeeded they particularly to recommend him to your Lordship's notice as a man who would be found most useful to Mr Bates helping on other regular traders to Honduras, and in proof of his attention I found on board in a very healthy state two Birds known in Honduras as the Wild Turkey but not the Meleagris ocellata? I may be wrong but I question whether these birds now on board do not belong, more properly to the Polyplutrus (?) family. They are of a dark blackish-brown with white spots and the deep red band under the throat. I requested the Captain not to sell them until I had an opportunity of acquainting your Lordship. The price he asked was £5 or £6 for them, and he has agreed to keep them for a few days for your Lordship's refusal. I would your Lordship decide on purchasing them. I would advise a person being sent up for them who might at the same time treat for the price. The vessels name is the 'Elizabeth and Jane' in the West India Docks. The Captain's name Hart. His residence, whether he will remove the birds this afternoon, is Dempsey Street, Commercial Road or by letter to James Thomson Esq. Billiter Square, London. I have thought it well to acquaint your Lordship of this arrival, more so as a means of your Lordship's having a knowledge of such a man as Captain Hart, who returns immediately the vessels discharged, and will probably return from Honduras early in the Spring of this year, who appears to me a careful man, and understanding the treatment of animals on board ship. Trusting I may have it always in my power to serve your Lordship in this cause so congenial to my tasks.

I have etc.
